

Today @ Colorado State has been replaced by SOURCE. This site exists as an archive of Today @ Colorado State stories between January 1, 2009 and September 8, 2014.

Working at CSU

Governor honors High Park Fire volunteers

Nov. 19, 2012

In

HJ Siegel, alongside his daughter, Sky, and wife, Janet, was recognized by Gov. John Hickenlooper for his efforts as a first responder during this summer's wildfires.

appreciation of the invaluable and heroic efforts of Colorado's first responders during the summer of 2012, Gov. John Hickenlooper hosted an appreciation reception meant to honor the firefighters who tirelessly worked to contain the summer's wildfires and the police officers and paramedics who rapidly responded to the tragic shootings in Aurora.

HJ Siegel, director of ISTEc, professor in the Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering and member of the Rist Canyon Volunteer Fire Department, was among those honored at the Governor's Mansion.

Print this Story | Posted in Working at CSU | + Share | f t e u

