

COLORADO STATE UNIVERSITY SOCIETY FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF MATERIAL AND PROCESS ENGINEERING (SAMPE) CHAPTER

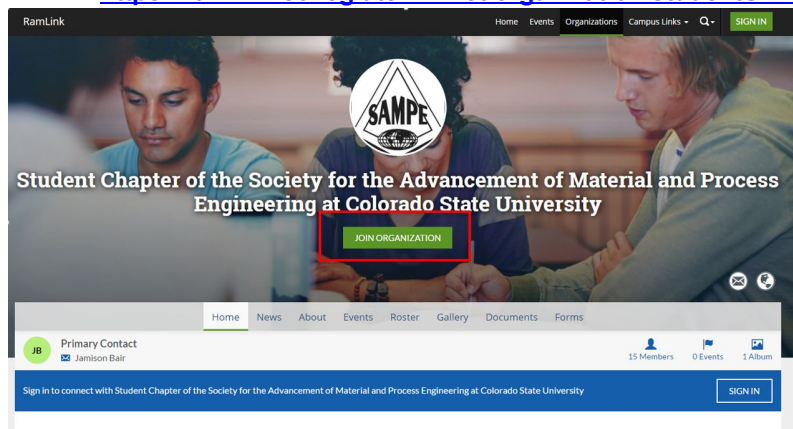

You are receiving this email because you have displayed interest in becoming, or are already a member of, the CSU Student Chapter of The Society for the Advancement of Material and Process Engineering (SAMPE).

SAMPE is a global professional member society that provides information on new materials and processing technology via conferences, exhibitions, technical forums, publications, and books in which professionals in this field can exchange ideas and air their views. Though it has historically been focused on composite materials, it is the only current technical society encompassing all fields of endeavor in materials and processes. SAMPE hosts worldwide exhibitions and conferences for networking, educational presentations, and product showcases that any member can attend including student members. A link to the SAMPE website is given below. New members will have to register through this site. Student memberships cost $20 and include 1 year of Professional membership following graduation, access to all SAMPE Journals, and full member access to the SAMPE website. Please ask if you have any questions with membership.

Additionally, CSU SAMPE is planning a workshop this spring semester that will provide students and Fort Collins community members the opportunity to gain firsthand experience manufacturing composite products. The workshop will feature a variety of tours, demonstrations and hands-on activities related to composite and advanced materials. Also included will be multiple miniature student design competitions including a 3D Printed Column Challenge, a Beam Bending or Bridge Building Competition and a Senior Design Project Posters Contest that take place this spring semester.
