in the beginning . . . . .

Nineteen hundred fifty and fifty-one will go down in the annals of EPHS as the year of the faculty play, of the organization of a Bobcat wrestling team, of the inauguration of the square dance program, of Mr. Hall's fabulous mustache, of the mimeographed "Mountaineer," of the high school journalism class.

It has been a year of joy, a year of sorrow; a year of fun, a year of work; above all, a year of learning.

It was the first year of war in Korea; the first year in six that has seen Estes Park High School boys leave their school to defend their nation.

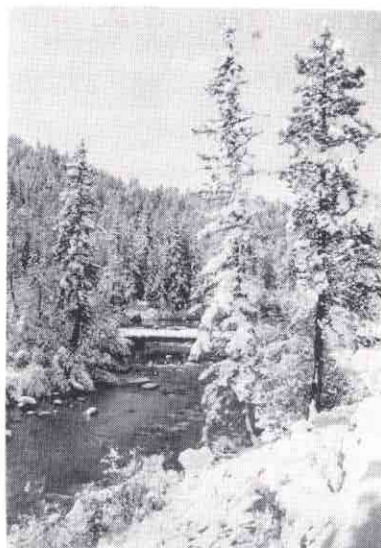

Finally, it has been the last year of high school for the class of '51. Twenty-seven young men and women have ascended a hill in the winding path of life.

This year the "Whispering Pine" is divided according to the three seasons of the school year: fall, winter, and spring. These changes in seasons have brought about not only changes in weather, but changes in the lives of all of us.

our school board met and decided . . .

Behind the scenes of high school life, three hard-working individuals have kept the school machinery running smoothly. School board president, Dr. H. W. Crowell; secretary, Mrs. R. T. MacCracken; and treasurer, Byron C. Graves have given freely of their time to determine worthy school policies.

guiding hands

Throughout the year Superintendent Carl T. Franzen ably administered the policies set forth by the school board. His pleasing smile and sense of humor have won for him the respect and admiration of the entire student body.

On the shoulders of Mrs. Rose O'Brien rested the secretarial portion of the work of the superintendent's office. Mrs. O'Brien also directed the faculty play and assisted in the production of the class plays and of Senior Amateur Night.

Principal Robert M. Hall was in direct contact with high school students and their activities. Although this was Mr. Hall's first year at Estes Park High School, his pleasant, efficient manner has helped him to co-ordinate high school work and play.

Mrs. Rene Vaughn, secretary to the principal, carried on the paper work of the principal's office. Mrs. Vaughn also served as production manager for the faculty play.

our tutors

On February first and second, faculty members presented the play "What a Life," under the direction of Mrs. Rose O'Brien. This is the first faculty play presented in the last seventeen years. Returns from the play helped to buy much-needed stage lights.

In addition to the regular staff, Waco Hill, Rex Shelley, Robert Van Male, and Bob Brown, student teachers from Colorado A & M, assisted in the instruction of chemistry and shop.

newcomers

Seventh graders, sponsored by Mr. Henry Goertz, met with enthusiasm the many trials which high school life presents.

Class members sponsored two parties during the year, the first a junior high party, and the second a spring party for seventh graders only. Both were quite successful and will provide wonderful memories for all who attended.

Class officers are Beverly Lenhart, president; Terry Smith, vice president; Bonnie Ramsey, secretary-treasurer; Laurel Lee Enyeart, student council representative; and Harold Smedley, sergeant at arms.

our student government

The student council worked diligently this year in promoting the ideals that are expressed in its constitution. One of the outstanding ideals is loyalty of all students to Estes Park High.

Among the various projects that the student council promoted were a square dance club, the installation of a telephone for the use of students, the regular inspection of lockers, development of a point-merit system, March of Dimes and Red Cross drives and a better class-budget system.

To carry out the work, the students chose Bill Bennett, president; Carol Morehead, vice president; and Jean Bennett, treasurer.

About forty young Bobcats reported to practice last September to get in shape for the early-season game with Akron. The Akron eleven squeezed by the Bobcats on their own muddy field by a score of 12 to 0.

Wearing their new uniforms for the first time, the Estes gridmen defeated a lighter Yuma eleven and during the following week trampled the La Porte Pirates. The Louisville Pirates held the Bobcats to a 6 to 6 tie at the half of a game played there, but the Estes team rallied in the second half and won 26 to 6. At Timnath the Estes squad was not so fortunate and the thrilling game ended in a scoreless tie. The fast-charging Loveland Indians scalped the Bobcats, giving them their worst defeat of the season. The Bobcats met the Lafayette team at home in their most important league game. The heavy Lafayette team won a hard fought battle by thirteen points, leaving the Bobcats in a tie with the Timnath Cubs for second place in the conference.

"but fair tomorrow"

On November 16, members of the junior class presented the three-act comedy, "But Fair Tomorrow," by Douglass F. Parkhirst. The play centered around a high school girl's efforts to manage her family and friends, and provided many moments of hilarious entertainment.

"o come all ye faithful"

Christmas spirit ran high in EPHS. Individual classes beautifully decorated their homerooms under a plan outlined by the student council. The traditional Rotary Club tree was erected in the auditorium, another tree was decorated and placed in the lower hall, while a third was placed on the landing upstairs. The climax of the school's Christmas season came when the high school chorus presented its special carol service in the auditorium.

Cheerleaders: Carol Morehead, Jerry Brunz, Lucille Hyatt.

The annual Pep Club initiation and pledge dance was held early in the school year and proved to be as interesting as in past years.

New Cheerleaders' uniforms have added color to this phase of the promotion of school spirit.

The Pep Club has strengthened student patriotism by decorating halls and lockers before special games and deserves a hand for the wonderful job of promoting school spirit before and during the Lafayette football game. Pep assemblies before games have increased student participation in and enjoyment of athletic contests.

the round ball boys

The basketball squad was not very successful at the beginning of the year, dropping games to Louisville, La Porte, Timnath, Berthoud, and Wellington. They showed their real spirit only twice in first round play, against Waverly and at Lyons, but as the season progressed the Bobcats improved. The "B" squad also had a losing streak, winning only two games of the first round.

"little women"

This year, for the first time, a GAA sponsored tumbling match was held. The Tumble Weeds, captained by Sharon Nighswonger, and the Srelbmuts, captained by Jean Bennett, participated in the meet. Jean Bennett was chosen Sports Head.

GAA also sponsored a Volleyball Tournament during the winter. Competing teams were the Pop Overs, captained by Wanda Turner, the P. K.'s, captained by Pam Krueger, and the Things, captained by Ruth Baker. Diane Burner was chosen Tumbling Sports Head.

the little green men

Active in all extra-curricular activities and athletic events, the freshman class has certainly found its place in the puzzle of high school life. With their highly successful "Premiere Night," the ninth graders demonstrated themselves capable of a fine degree of cooperation.

Class officers are: Bob Sawyer, president; Sharon Nighswonger, vice president; Diane Berner, secretary; Beverly Aiken, treasurer; Bob Carvell, student council. Miss Darlene Miley served as ninth grade class sponsor.

On February 21, a large and enthusiastic audience attended the third annual Senior Amateur Night. Local talent of all shapes and sizes was drafted for the program which proved to be one of the best yet. Music and comedy were delightfully blended into a family album plot to provide nearly two hours of excellent entertainment.

these Kids of ours . . .

Again this year outstanding students of EPHS were invited to take part in Jane Sterling's radio program, "These Kids of Ours." Gad Smith, Carol Lawrence, Norma Shideler, Bob McConnell, Richard Eslinger, and Lynn Kindred participated in a discussion of timely problems broadcast over station KOA on the evening of January 17. Bill Bennett was chosen "Champ of the Week."

boots and calico

This year a high school square dance club, sponsored by the student council, was successfully organized. The first dance was held Tuesday, September 26. Dick Montgomery unselfishly gave his time to call the dances on the first and fourth Tuesdays of every month. There have been fine turnouts of seventh and eighth graders and many senior high school students at each dance. Those who have attended show promise of future skill in square dancing.

"wise fools"

The Class of '53, sponsored by Mr. Lloyd, will have many pleasant memories of its Sophomore year. The Sophomores sponsored a party for Estes and Louisville students after the Bobcats' first basketball game. A second party was staged after basketball season. The active tenth graders also held their spring picnic, which has become an annual class celebration.

The class is looking forward to a memorable and prosperous Junior year.

MOUNTAINEER STAFF WORKS ON ANNUAL

While members of the Junior Class produced the sixth edition of the Mountaineer, members of the regular staff devoted their attention to the 1951 "Whispering Pine."

Bill Bennett, editor of the annual, distributed assignments to the members of the staff, while Richard Eslinger supervised the advertising department. Mrs. Bolling sponsored the annual. Several underclassmen also contributed their time and talents to the "Whispering Pine." Wanda Turner was assistant editor of the production. Members of the staff worked industriously throughout the year to produce an outstanding annual.

MIMEOGRAPHED MOUNTAINEER PUBLISHED BI-WEEKLY

A revolution took place in the journalism department this year when the board of education decided that the printed Mountaineer of last year would be mimeographed. The project was undertaken by the newly formed journalism class, which used the mimeograph machine in the commercial room to produce the paper.

Helen Montgomery was selected editor in chief of the Mountaineer, and under her direction the first edition appeared on October 6, 1950.

JOURNALISM CLASS AT WORK

Staff of the Mountaineer hard at work to meet that deadline.

Early in the school year, the high school journalism class began a study of the fundamentals of writing and printing a mimeographed paper. This method was new even to those students who were associated with the printed paper of last year.

Two staff members were assigned to edit each page. The jobs of securing the news and writing it in readable fashion were assigned class members by the managing editor. Page editors were in charge of assembling news for the phase of reporting covered by their individual pages. The dumied pages were then typed on a stencil, and in the final stage of production, the stencil was run off on the mimeograph machine by members of the production staff.

QUILL AND SCROLL

Members of Quill and Scroll, International Honorary Society of High School Journalists, chose Richard Eslinger to lead the group this year. Richard follows in the steps of John Fonda, last year's president. For vice-president the group chose Carolyn Phelps. Carol Copeland received the office of secretary, and Helen Montgomery filled the office of treasurer. Bill Bennett was also a member of this honorary society. Mrs. Bolling sponsors the group.

In January, Norma Shideler, Joyce Stehlik, and Gad Smith, having met the requirements of the organization, were initiated into Quill and Scroll. To qualify for Quill and Scroll, a student must be in the upper third of his class, and be outstanding journalistically.

Mountaineer Receives Award

For the school year of 1949-50, the Mountaineer again received an "International second place award for distinctive achievement in scholastic journalism." This year's award brings the paper fourteen points nearer the prized first place.

grunt and groaners

For the first time in EPHS history, wrestling was an organized minor sport this year. Coach Wallace Post instructed the boys and planned several excursions for the instruction of wrestling fundamentals. A trip to the Denver University Wrestling Clinic was among these. Several matches were also scheduled to give the Estes matmen experience in competition. Bobcat grapplers lost their first match, a meet with Johnston, by a score of 16 to 15.

music makers

Estes Park High School's "Music Makers" turned out near-professional performances at dances and parties throughout the year. Their rhythmic melodies furnished background for dancing at the Freshman "Premiere Night," and at many other school social functions. Below the "Music Makers" are shown at the Sadie Hawkins dance.

cindermen

In an early quadrangular meet with Wellington, Waverly, and La Porte, the 1951 track team earned only a third place, but the green squad learned a great deal. At the Aggie Invitational meet, Bruce Harbert placed third in the light-weight high jump, breaking the school record at 5' 6". In the conference meet the Bobcats placed second only to the Timnath squad. The District Qualifying Meet proved that there were several men on the Estes track squad who were outstanding enough to qualify for the state meet. Bob Odell ran third in his 440 at State and Bill Grove placed third in the discus, giving the Bobcats a total of six points in the meet.

The Bobcat track-team should be hard to beat this year with its returning lettermen and speedy new prospects.

"you can't take it with you"

This year's senior play, "You Can't Take It With You," by Moss Hart and George Kaufman, was one of the highlights of the year for the entire community. The delightful production was excellently played, and was immediately acclaimed one of the best senior plays ever presented by EPHS. Richard Eslinger as Grandpa, Joyce Stehlik as Mrs. Sycamore, Gad Smith as Tony, Carol Copeland as Essie, Norma Shideler as Alice, Carl Closs as Paul Sycamore, Jack Crowell as Ed, Maxine McKelvey as Rheba, Bob McConnell as Mr. DePinna, Bill Grove as Donald, Bill Bennett as Boris Kolenkhov, Janet Oversteg and Gene Benedict as the Kirbys, Marvin Hack and George Havens as J men, Jean Brockman as Gay Wellington, Don Guertner as Henderson, and Carol Lawrence as the Grand Duchess Olga Katrina made up the cast of eighteen seniors. Don Guertner and Helen Montgomery were in charge of properties. George Havens and Marvin Hack were stage managers, Elaine McConnell was prompter, Bill Grove managed the lighting, Lulu Belle Holton was in charge of costumes and art, Carolyn Phelps managed tickets and programs, Bill Bennett was in charge of publicity, Lulu Belle Holton and Elaine McConnell managed advertising, Helen Montgomery was in charge of music and presentation of gifts, Mr. Wallace Post was in charge of the set, and Mrs. Rose O'Brien and Mrs. Maria Cameron managed make-up. The play was directed by Mrs. Mary Thomas and produced by Lulu Belle Holton.

our enthusiastic juniors

This year has been an eventful one for the 27 members of the class of '52. With an eye to raising funds for the Junior-Senior Prom, the Juniors sponsored the annual Homecoming Dance and football raffle, a turkey raffle in November and noon concessions throughout most of the year.

The excellent sponsorship of Mr. Thompson and Miss Miller proved a great asset to all class activities.

Early in the year plans were begun for the climax of the social season, the Junior-Senior Prom. Altogether, the year was a successful one for the Juniors.

Last year's "Rhapsody in Blue" highlighted social activities for high school juniors and seniors. Mr. Franzen was guest speaker at the banquet and all present enjoyed his discourse on "A Horse, A Horse, My Kingdom for A Horse." As we go to press, plans are well underway for the 1951 Junior-Senior Prom and Banquet, to be built around the theme "Rainbow Paradise." All pictures are of last year's prom.

on parade

The fifty members of the EPHS band added musical color to pep assemblies and games throughout the year. Blending the popular and the classic, the band presented a delightful fall concert early in December. Band members participated in the annual University of Colorado Band Day and the State Music Festival.

The high school German Band entertained at school activities of all sorts during the year, even presenting its own version of the "William Tell Overture" at Senior Amateur Night.

Under the capable direction of Mr. Robert Lloyd, the high school chorus has presented several successful and entertaining programs. The chorus appeared with the traditional sheets and candles at the annual Christmas Programs. One of the most popular numbers was "The Night Before Christmas," which has been sung in previous years.

In the spring, the chorus traveled to Boulder to compete in the Music Festival and sang with the Mass Chorus, which was again directed by Dr. Harry Wilson.

 Junior Year

In this, their final year at EPHS, the twenty-seven members of the senior class were unusually active in all school affairs. Twelve senior boys made the school football squad. On November 25, the class sponsored a successful Sadie Hawkins Dance, and on February 21 presented the annual Amateur Nght. On April 6, the seniors presented the hilarious comedy, "You Can't Take It With You" by Moss Hart and George Kaufman. The traditional senior trip, late in May, climaxed the year for the class of '51.
